

Executive Biography

Alex Porter, M.D.

Vice President of Clinical Services and Academic Development

Dr. Porter, who oversees EGS' Clinical Services and Academic Development departments, started his surgical training at the University of California, San Francisco. He transferred to the University of Washington, where he helped establish the Swallowing Center, a GI motility disorders clinic, and continued his surgical training.

Dr. Porter is an international speaker and has been published in peer review journals.

For more information about EndoGastric Solutions, EGS Europe, and the EsophyX® and StomaphyX® products, please visit www.endogastricsolutions.com.